

RITUALS AND PRACTICES

for an Intergenerational Worshipping Community

JANUARY 11 - 13, 2024

INSTRUCTOR: REV. MARY NICHOL

Thursday 5:30-8:30pm;
Friday 2-8:30pm;
Saturday 9am-4:30pm

Faith formation research is pointing us to focus on inter-generational ministry as being the heart of the faith community. This short intensive will focus on specific spiritual practices and other rituals that sustain a worshipping community, and nurture the faith-formation of all ages.

Students will spend time engaging in and leading spiritual practices. We will explore faith-formation for a new generation, and use rituals and practices in age specific, inter-generational, and family context. This course is intended for those already practicing ministry of all ages, those brand new to ministry leadership, or those wishing to refresh their skills.

COURSE CREDITS: This course is offered through Vancouver School of Theology and can be taken for credit towards a Certificate in Children, Youth & Family Ministry, degree credit, or continuing education.

LOCATION: In-person at Vancouver School of Theology (VST) campus, UBC; online via Zoom for distance students (degree students must connect synchronously if studying via Zoom).
